

Rachel Davies

Supply Chain Strategy Lead UK

Rachel is a commercially astute and strategically driven leader with extensive experience in supply chain management across civil and defence programmes. She has led end-to-end supply chain operations, including NPI transfers, procurement strategy, supplier partnerships, and large-scale project delivery, while expanding her remit to include strategic planning, cost-to-serve optimisation, and aftermarket growth.

Known for her ability to operate at both operational and executive levels, Rachel combines commercial rigour, supplier oversight, and risk management across high-value, regulated environments. She is recognised for driving supply chain performance, experience in military bid management, leading complex proposals and ensuring compliance with defence procurement standards.
