

Simon Ward

Chairman

Accrofab Group

Simon joined Accrofab in 2023 and has enjoyed leveraging his commercial and strategic experience in the aerospace industry to provide strategic guidance to the Accrofab Leadership Team. He also leads Accrofab ambitions to grow the group further through acquisition.

Prior to joining Accrofab, Simon spent over 20 years at Doncasters Group covering aerospace, power generation, automotive and industrial sectors. Product experience includes fabrications, forgings, castings, superalloys, fasteners and capital equipment. Having started his career initially within technical roles, he progressed to cover global divisions alongside commercial and board responsibility for the Group.

Simon brings a customer value driven approach, enabling the creation and delivery of growth strategies aligned to increasing technical and commercially focused market demands. "
